Holmegaard's Lily series is inspired by the different stages of the water lily's flowering and has the same light and poetic appearance as the beautiful flower itself. The bowl in Blue Iris has a diameter of 13 cm and is beautiful to eat from or perfect for serving sugar lamps, jam, toffees or something else entirely. The floral pattern protrudes as a relief in the moulded glass, which is both transparent and tactile. The lines in the design are simple, soft and organic, but in a streamlined and stylish way, creating a fine balance between a romantic and modern look. The bowls are easy to stack and can also be washed in the dishwasher, so you can use them on a daily basis without having to worry about washing them up by hand. The range also includes a large serving bowl, dessert plate and tumbler – all in four different colours. All the pieces in the Lily series are made of tinted glass, so the colour stays beautiful over time.
