With the Stelton design tradition as their inspiration, the designers of the new Luna series explored the dynamics that emerge from combining tactile and hard materials. The result is a stylish, characterful design. The distinctive notches in the outer part of the bread tray create a rigid, rhythmic sequence, providing an interesting dynamic between the smooth metal and the inner part of the bread tray, which features soft, woven cotton. The metal tray is rounded at the bottom, lending it an inviting, modern look. The colours are restricted to pale Nordic hues that will look great in many different contexts and interiors. The Luna bread tray is perfect for serving bread in, and the two parts of the basket can also be used separately - as a bread basket and fruit bowl.
