Good wine deserves a beautiful glass and these contemporary white wine glasses in lead-free crystal are the perfect choice. The eye-catching soft grooves not only echo Art Deco detailing but they also allow the glasses to be held firmly, even when the chilled white wine causes condensation on the outside. Form and function combined is a true sign of great Scandinavian design!

Sigvard Bernadotte was the son of the Swedish king but carved out a career as one of Georg Jensen's first design collaborators. Greatly influenced by the functionalist movement, he is credited for leading the house from highly decorated Art Nouveau styling to a more streamlined aesthetic. His influence can be still seen today and is the inspiration behind the Bernadotte tableware collection.

The white wine glasses come in sets of six and are made of lead-free crystal.
